QUESTIONABLE TREATMENT OF A PHYSICIAN BY AN OFFICIAL.

A New York Coroner's Mysterious Doings

—Inquests Not as Numerous as They Ought To Be—The Case of W. H. Vanderbilt.

(Copyright 1888.)

The salary of $5,000 received by a New York coroner would never tempt some of the men who have held or do hold, that position. There are many ways in which the Coroner can add to his income by a little floundering; and, if the word of most of their brother politicians is to be accepted, they are not slow in taking advantage of them. An illustration or two may be found both suggestive and convincing.

Less than one night several years ago, a prominent physician was called to the Anthony House, now the Broadway Hotel, at 334 Broadway. The hotel did not then possess a very savory reputation and was frequented by many people of questionable character. The physician found a man lying unconscious on a cot in a badly furnished room on the third floor. The early morning light that was struggling to dispel the gloom displayed a horrible sight. The man was partly dressed and in the dim light the doctor could see that he had been no stranger to disipation. His features were contracted and a frown rested upon his brow. The skull was fractured and there were marks of blows upon his head and face. The knuckles of both hands were raw and bloody, the skin having been rubbed or beaten off. It was evident that a crime had been committed.

The man was already in his death throes and beyond the power of saying who had been his assailant. In answer to his inquiries the doctor was told that the man's name was John McDade. He had registered at the hotel two days before. He had been seen that night in the saloon on the southeast corner of Broadway and Thirteenth street—a notorious place. An hour or two later his body was found by a fireman in the stable adjoining the engine house at Thirteenth street, near Fourth avenue. The distance from the hotel or the saloon to the stable was very short and the body could easily have been carried there.

The doctor made a close examination of the body and became convinced that the man had been murdered. The injuries he had received were undoubtedly caused by blows, and could not have resulted from a fall. The hotel people insisted that he must have fallen down stairs while drunk and then have wandered into the stable. The doctor saw that this would have been a physical impossibility. He inquired among the guests and servants and soon learned enough of the truth to enable him to explain the crime and to know how it had been committed. This was what he learned:

While in the saloon on the corner McDade met a woman with whom he drank several times. She accompanied him to the hotel. While there she was recognized by a former paramour, who set upon McDade. The latter fought bravely, but the other man was joined by friends, who overpowered McDade. They lifted him bodily and endeavored to throw him over the balustrade. He caught hold of it and clung to it for dear life. Then they pounded him on the face and head and beat and bruised his knuckles until he was forced to let go. He dropped down one flight into the hall below. His assailants went down and examined his body. Satisfied that he was done for and would never be able to give an account of his injuries, they carried the body over to the stable and deposited it there.

The doctor wrote a letter to the Coroner's office stating what he had learned and requesting that he be summoned as a witness for the people at the inquest. Several days later he was notified to appear. He did so. Upon being called to the witness stand he started to testify as to how he had found the body and what had been the result of his investigations.

"Here, sir!" interrupted the Coroner, "when I want your opinions I will ask you for them. You answer the questions I put to you. Where was the deceased when you found him?"

"He was lying on a cot in a back room on the third floor of the Anthony House, but he had been—"

"Silence, sir!" thundered the Coroner again; "you confine your testimony to what will answer my questions. He had a fracture at the base of his skull, didn't he?"

"Yes; and bruises on his head and face. The skin on his knuckles—"

Again the Coroner interferred. He had, for reasons best known to himself, determined to hush the matter up and he quietly choked off the doctor's testimony. The doctor was told to step down and was quietly hustled out of the room. Nothing was ever heard of the matter again.

When William H. Vanderbilt died Coroner Messinger made the examination and gave the official permit. His action made him extremely unpopular with his conferees, because he had not at the time been on duty and had taken upon himself the task that, by agreement among the four Coroners, belonged to Coroner Kennedy. The feeling against him was intensely bitter, and but for the prominence of the dead man's family it would very probably have resulted in a wrangle for the possession of the body. It was then common talk among the politicians and newspaper men, who knew that the Coroner who was there first had been well paid for not making himself too officious.

Mr. Vanderbilt died suddenly while conversing with President Garfield, of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad. That made it necessary to call in the Coroner so as to obtain a burial permit. Had the Coroner insisted upon holding an inquest then it would have been almost impossible to prevent it.

It can easily be seen that wealthy people would pay well under such circumstances to escape the grievous officiousness of the law. Would a Vanderbilt pay $10,000 to prevent the holding of an autopsy or inquest upon the body of a member of the family? was a question much discussed about City Hall and the Coroner's office at that time.

Very little ever comes of the Coroner's investigations into deaths on the railroad. I have known of half a dozen deaths occurring on one railroad in New

THE WHITECHAPEL MURDERER.

Instances of a Monomania among Men for Amusing Women.

"There is no doubt in the mind of any doctor who has studied alienism," said a prominent New York physician in the Hoffman House this week, "but that the wretched assassin who has terrorized London by a series of atrocious murders is suffering from a mental disease which is well known to the medical faculty. The disease is a monomania whose chief characteristic is morbid thoughts and feelings and unnatural conduct toward the other sex. The last takes all sorts of forms but seldom expresses itself in homicidal actions. In a recent case here in New York the monomaniac took an insane delight in promiscuous Broadway when it was crowded with shoppers and throwing small quantities of oil of vitriol on every handsome silk dress he walked past. He ruined several hundred dresses before he was caught by Inspector Byrnes on Fourteenth street. Similar to this case was that of a young man who provided Broadway near Thirty-fourth street some six years ago and squirted corrosive acid upon the clothes of well-dressed and fine-looking women. He was also apprehended after considerable hard work on the part of the police and I think by Inspector, then Captain, Williams. An interesting case in which the disease took a ridiculous turn was in Chicago. Here an old bachelor found a morbid pleasure in stealing shoes from women. He would only take one shoe and that one the left if he could get it, and it made no difference to him whether the woman was old or young, rich or poor, pretty or ugly. Upon the man's death, his diary disclosed over two hundred thefts of this class and in his bureau and trunks were more than ninety shoes and slippers he had stolen from the other sex.

"Two cases recorded by the French authorities verge upon the sentimental. In one the monomaniac had a craze for ribbons around women's necks, and would resort to assault and battery to obtain them if he could not do it by craft or address. In the other, the man's weakness was locks of hair. He went provided with barbers' scissors, and whenever the opportunity presented itself would relieve a luckless woman of a handful of hair. Both of these fellows carefully preserved their spoils and kept them arranged and labeled in a way that would do credit to a scientific cabinet.

"Two other instances, one in Berlin and the other in Vienna, were of a very different nature. In each of these the maniac assumed a set of clothes that were almost a disguise, consisting of a slouched hat pulled down over the face and a military cloak drawn up around the neck until the collar nearly met the hat brim. Thus attired, they would start out in quest of victims. When an attractive woman approached, they would hide themselves behind a tree or projecting building, and if the coast was clear as she passed, glide noiselessly behind her and stab her in the arm or back with a sharp penknife. The wound was always painful, seldom dangerous and never fatal. Both of these wretches were captured finally by the police and convicted by the courts. They were examined after the trial by expert alienists and pronounced insane. They were sent to asylums for insane criminals and died not long afterward from paresis.

"A common form of the disease which is found in nearly all large asylums, is where the victim imagines himself the object of the admiration and passion of numberless beautiful women. I recall one case where the patient, who was seemingly sane in all other respects, kept a diary of the imaginary women who visited him hourly, and who spent all his leisure time in writing love letters of the most intense type to himself from his fancied paramours and admirers.

"Dr. Bonardel, a distinguished physician and writer of Paris, has given this subject great study and has collected a vast number of cases. He instances not less than seven men who killed women or children while under the impetus of mania, and five of the six mutilated the corpses in the same loathsome way as is done by the Whitechapel fiend. One of the seven, a quiet and well-educated man named Meneclon, confessed to the authorities that he knew perfectly well what he was doing when he murdered his victim and suffered the pangs of remorse during as well as after the commission of the crime, but that he was seized with an irresistible frenzy to kill which he could not control.

"The monomania to inflict pain and shed blood is much more common. In the past six years three men have been convicted in Strasbourg and two in Paris of making passes at women with sharp, steel pointed canes.

"These monomaniacs make their appearance usually toward the commencement of general paralysis or paresis—in other words, toward the close of the sufferer's life. At the outset he generally displays the remarkable cunning and quickness for which crazy people are noted. This disappears as the disease progresses, and the brain becomes more and more impaired. In many cases the perpetrator of this kind of crime is never detected and dies a few months or a year afterwards in some hospital or asylum. In all probability the Whitechapel murderer is a monomaniac of this class, who, if he is captured will probably cheat the gallows by the natural progress of his disease."

THE tariff should not only be revised and the revenue reduced by friendly hands, but no time should be lost in doing it. An extra session of the Fifty-fifth Congress should be called, and the tariff question settled at once. If once settled on sound, economic principles the effect will be so beneficial to the nation that the Republican party will be indorsed more thoroughly and widely in 1892 than in 1888. The sooner it is done the better, for many reasons. It will remove all fears of a change in our fiscal policy. It will give enterprising Americans an opportunity to develop in this country many new and important branches of industry. With thousands employed in these newly established industries, and the price to the consumer reduced, the protectionists will be doubly armed with facts in 1892 to meet the exploded arguments of the free trade theorists.

THE director of the Royal Deaf Mute Asylum at Copenhagen has shown that children's growth varies greatly in different parts of the year, the weight of increase in the weight of boys being three times as great from the first of August to the middle of December as from the middle of December to the end of April, and most of the gain of this second period being lost between the end of April and the end of July. These fluctuations do not correspond to local changes of temperature or to changes of season, but instead appear to coincide with fluctuations in the average temperature of the whole globe. The evidence thus far collected is taken as an indication, therefore, that some unknown "energy of growth" comes to us from the sun with the heat rays, separates from them, and, unaffected by wind or weather, causes uniform fluctuations in the growth of all organic life.

THE idea of leaving cards at the graves of distinguished persons appears to be fast becoming established as one of the regular rules of card etiquette. The bust of Longfellow in Westminster Abbey is surrounded by these bits of cardboard. A Boston paper well says that nothing but vanity and lack of taste could prompt so idiotic a custom, and it is probably followed by persons who act upon the rule that, "if you can't shed a tear, leave your card."

A SCHEME is on foot to lobby through the Legislature this winter a bill legalizing a State lottery. Right here we record our objection to any such a scheme, and shall use all honorable means to defeat it. Any game that pays but 80 per cent. on the dollar is a fraud, and that is the sum that the projectors of the enterprise propose to pay those who are foolish enough to patronize them.

THE Government at Quebec has sent Commissioners to the United States whose mission it is to induce the French Canadians now in this country to return to their former homes. But the Canadians will not go. They came here to better their condition, and here they will remain, because they get better wages and better living than is possible for them to have in the Dominion.

THE Farmer's Review says of the potato crop of the present season that there is no doubt that it is the largest ever grown in the United States. It bases this statement on statistics furnished by correspondents, and made up from actual harvest returns.

THE continued rainfall on this side of the Sierras is greatly appreciated by both ranchers and stockmen, and, from the present outlook, abundant crops and green pastures can with almost absolute certainty be anticipated for 1889.

THE Virginia Chronicle learns that Cleveland has carried the State of Virginia, and that the Democrats will have the next California Legislature, but it doesn't say what the California Democrats are going to do with their victory.

Troublesome Subjects.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 23.—The steamer Rio De Janeiro arrived from Hong Kong and Yokohama to-day. A correspondent of the of the China Mail states that an uprising has taken place in Formosa which may result seriously. The registration and remeasurement of the rice and sugar districts in the south and west of the island, has been in progress for some time, with a view of increased taxation, and has caused great ill-will against the authorities, especially the Imperial Commissioner. The Chinese settlers, aided by the natives, took possession of the large walled town of Chung-hoa, where they received recruits, and then proceeded to another large town (Hagi), which they also occupied. Taiwan, it was thought, was also in danger, and the British Consul there telegraphed for a gunboat. The district is much disturbed, and bands of robbers are plundering people on the road.

A report was in circulation that the District Magistrate of Chung Hoa had been killed, and soldiers have been sent to quell the disturbance.

A Switchmen's Strike.
INDIANAPOLIS, Nov. 23.—The strike of the railroad switchmen is taking an ugly phase. Not a single switch engine in the city was moved this morning. In the freight yards everything is in confusion; the morning trains were abandoned half made up, or not made up at all. In all the yards business was at a complete standstill. In several places the engineers and firemen or other employees were pressed in service and tried to go on with the work, but the strikers interfered and successfully prevented the departure of any trains. The engineers and firemen are in sympathy with the switchmen, and made no attempt to man their engines. In nearly every instance they have quit work, run their engines into their stalls, and drew their engines when the switchmen requested. All the forenoon the strikers have been going in gangs from one yard to another and warning applicants for work that if they undertook to touch the switch engines they would be handled roughly. The officers of the roads called for police protection at noon, and an effort will be made to start out new crews this evening.

The Dressed Beef Trust.
ST. LOUIS, Nov. 23.—The Senate Investigating Committee met at noon. Wm. Peters of Pittsburgh, told how the dressed beef men forced the butchers at his station to handle their meats, by establishing shops and underselling them. Jefferson Reynolds of Los Vegas, N. M., was the next witness. He said: "The continued depression in the prices we receive for our steers has been a great surprise to us. When I was in New York and Hartford I inquired at the hotels and of the butchers whether they were paying as much for their cattle as three years ago, and they said more. I informed them that we were not getting within fifty per cent. of what we got three years ago."

Senator Manderson—What did you get for cattle five years ago?
Witness—Thirty-seven dollars.
Senator Manderson—What do you get now?
Witness—Eleven dollars.
Senator Vest—The cattle losses in Montana several years ago were unprecedented, were they not?
Witness—Yes, I have been so informed.
Senator Vest—Yet your business was not benefited in the least?
Witness—We expected increased trade, but there was no advance. Adjourned to December 5th.

An Aggressive Corporation.
CHICAGO, Nov. 23.—It is officially stated here that the Canadian Pacific will build a branch to Detroit, connecting with the Wabash system, thereby gaining an entrance to Chicago and becoming a competitor for the western business in the United States.

LONDON, Nov. 23.—A cablegram says Canadian Pacific shares have been pressed for sale yesterday and to-day to build their branch. The Standard thinks the company is hard up.

Still in D dispute.
WASHINGTON, Nov. 22.—As a result of the conference between General Mahone and Senator Quay, recently held in this city, it is announced that proceedings will be begun in the Virginia State Courts and the United States District Court of Virginia, attacking the right of the Democratic Electors of that State to cast their votes for President in the Electoral College. The certificates of the Electors will not be issued until after the meeting of the State Board of Canvassers in Richmond next Monday, and it is contemplated that proceedings will be immediately instituted.

An Improbable Suspicion.
PARIS, Nov. 23.—The Boulanger and Conservative journals charge the Government with preparing a coup d'etat to be carried out on the occasion of the demonstration at the grave of the revolutionist Boudin de Embeue. Their alleged Government agents will mingle with the people in the cemetery and provoke a conflict. The leaders in the demonstration will then be arrested on trumped up charges of having been plotting against the State, and be prosecuted for treason.

Lively Poker Game.
LOS ANGELES, Nov. 23.—A man named Frank Robinson was shot and killed during a game of poker last night by a stranger, who escaped. Three men were playing poker at the time, and the stranger had lost heavily, when he drew a revolver and fired several shots, one ball entering Robinson's brain. The man then made good his escape.

A New Railroad.
WINONA, Minn., Nov. 23.—The Winona and Southwestern railway was formally opened to-day. This road is intended to form a link between Winona and Omaha, in a great transcontinental line, including the Lackawanna, Green Bay and Winona on the East and Union on the West; also connecting at Sioux City with a projected line to Ogden.

Slight Advance in Gold Bars.
NEW YORK, Nov. 23.—The foreign bankers who have ordered gold for shipment to Europe state that owing to the demand in London for gold bars for shipment to Russia and South America, the bankers on the other side are paying for gold a fraction over the nominal prices. The total gold taken for shipment so far this week is $4,654,000.

Fatal Collision.
PITTSBURGH, Nov. 23.—Two big freight trains on the Cleveland and Pittsburgh road collided at Hammondsville, Ohio, this morning. Both engines and a number of cars were demolished. One engineer had a leg crushed, and the other engineer and a brakeman are missing, and are supposed to be in the wreck.

A Suspected Duel.
NEW YORK, Nov. 23.—In a secluded part of Central Park a policeman this morning found a heavy single-barreled pistol and several handkerchiefs stained with blood. The ground in the vicinity also contained blood, and from the marks it is believed a duel had been fought.

Albert Sisson's Will.
SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 22.—The will of Albert W. Sisson, a well-known resident of San Francisco, and formerly senior member of the old firm of Sisson, Crocker & Co., was filed for probate to-day. The estate of $400,000 is divided equally among the widow and three sons.

Powderly Re-elected.
INDIANAPOLIS, Nov. 23.—Powderly was re-elected General Master Workman this morning by nearly a unanimous vote. Morris L. Wheat of Iowa is General Secretary and Treasurer to be elected this afternoon.

A Destructive Blaze.
EUREKA SPRINGS, Ark., Nov. 23.—A fire broke out this morning in a dentist's office, and although an alarm was so given, the flames were beyond control. A greater part of the business portion of the city was consumed. Loss, $200,000; very little insurance.

General Miles at the Bay.
SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 22.—General Nelson A. Miles, the new Commander of the Department of the Pacific, arrived from Los Angeles this afternoon. He was accompanied by Aides-de-Camp Lieutenants Gatswood and Tapray.

No Secret Treaty.
ST. PETERSBURG, Nov. 23.—The Journal de St. Petersburg denies that a secret treaty has been entered into by Corea and Russia. It admits that Corea has granted Russia facilities for trade across the frontier.

Heavy Loss.
FORT WAYNE, Ind., Nov. 23.—The Jenney electric light plant is entirely destroyed. Loss, $250,000; insurance, $170,000. Three hundred workmen are thrown out of employment.

Thought to be Untrue.
NEW YORK, Nov. 23.—The report of a general switchmen's strike on all the lines of the Mississippi cannot be confirmed, and the opinion is expressed that it is untrue.

Still Living.
LONDON, Nov. 23.—John Bright passed another comfortable night, but he does not improve.

The Farnell Commission.
LONDON, Nov. 23.—At the sitting of the Farnell Commission to-day Inspector of Police Huggins testified concerning the outrages at Castle Island, County Kerry. On cross-examination, the witness said he believed the Leaser's sons initiated the outrages in order to evade the payment of rent. He knew of the bogus outrages. He was not aware that the men conspired to damage their own property in order to secure compensation. He did not think that all the outrages were due to secret societies—some were the result of family quarrels or private malice. He connected the League with "moonlighting," because prior to the existence of the League Kerry had been peaceful.

POLL-TAX FRAUDS.

Three of Boss Buckley's Lambs Indicted for Embezzlement.
The San Francisco Chronicle of the 21st inst. says: The indictments found by the Grand Jury Monday against parties whose names were withheld were, it appears, against John Terrill, head Deputy Poll-tax Collector, for embezzlement of $30,000 collected from Chinese, and Thomas Young and Harrington, deputies in the same office, each on two charges of embezzlement and extortion, they being accused, in addition to their participation in the embezzlement, of having extorted money from Chinese, nominally as poll taxes, and refused to give receipts to the Celestials.

Twelve or thirteen Chinese witnesses and one or two white men were among those examined, the principal witness being Edward Kerrigan, who had been employed by the defrauded Mongols to work up the case. It was understood last evening that the "blind devil" was making strenuous exertions to prevent the facts from being revealed, but he was still being withheld from the reporters while the accused were preparing their bonds for filing this morning. Early this morning ex-Sheriff Peter Hopkins was interrogated by a Chronicle reporter. Mr. Hopkins said the bonds were arranged for, and would be given early in the morning, though, as they were not yet actually signed, he would not give the name of the prospective bondsmen. It had been rumored that the ex-Sheriff's autograph would be revealed with the documents. The bonds are for $3,000 each.

The explosion of a boiler at the old Colusa Concentrator at Butte, M. T., Monday, killed engineer Edmunds, William O'Connor, Jacob Kramer and Henry Wintens, and injured Richard Wing, George Hickman and John Eustice—none fatally.

JOTTINGS.

All books in use in any of the schools in Reno can be had at the store of C. J. Brookins.

You have only to look into Fraser's market to be convinced that he deals only in first-class meats.

Take your noon lunches at J. J. Becker's, and thus save your shoes for the snow when it comes.

George Becker's sales of his Pacific Brewery beer show that it is appreciated by all judges of that temperate beverage.

Leave your orders for chickens, turkeys, cranberries and everything pertaining to a Thanksgiving dinner at Leadbetter's.

Any one in want of a nice pocket-knife should examine the stock of C. A. Thurston, and not pay out money for iron or pewter blades.

Upon Stokes will give another of their pleasant social dances at Armory Hall next Saturday night. Dancing school from 7 to 9 o'clock, and the social from 9 to 12.

For fifteen cents deposited at Lammie's grocery store you are entitled to a chance in one of four fine holiday presents, including a piece of chewing gum, which in turn draws you a prize equally worth the money expended.

Reno's Streets.

The condition of the streets is such now that the most obtuse observer can readily see the necessity of systematic and judicious work. Look where you may, duck ponds are visible, and there is no outlet for the surplus standing water. This is true of Commercial Row and all other important streets. The policy appears to have been to throw all waste water into the middle of the streets, instead of providing gutters along the edge of the sidewalks as should be. It would be well if those in power would have the grades legitimately fixed and work done complying to the grade. As it is, money is expended to but little purpose, and the streets are not only a stigma but a disgrace, and reflects seriously on the judgment of those who have town matters in charge.

Notice.

The customers of the Reno Water Company are hereby notified that the water will be shut off from the town Sunday morning, November 25th, at 7 a. m., and remain off for at least ten hours, for the purpose of making certain needed repairs. PIERCE EVANS.

The Justice's Court.

Judge Young looks sleepy and careworn waiting for something to turn up in the Justice's Court, whereby he can make a nickel, but the town is on its good behavior now-a-days.

PERSONAL.

Dave Evans is in from Long Valley. George Cunningham went below last night.

F. C. Dickinson returned from below this morning.

Frank Powers, for many years a resident of Lake Valley, at the south end of Lake Tahoe, and now of Modoc county, California, arrived in town yesterday.

Mrs. A. Bull and her daughter Ada of Mud Springs are stopping at the Depot Hotel. Miss Ada has returned to resume studies at Mt. St. Mary's Academy.

Miss Altenberg of Battle Mountain, who has been attending school at Mt. St. Mary's Academy, left for her home yesterday on account of serious illness in the family.

Drs. Clunness and Huntington of Sacramento, who have been in Reno several days as witnesses in the trial of Wedekind vs. the Southern Pacific Co., returned to California last night.

Senator Stewart and his private secretary, Froham, came down from Carson last evening and left this morning for Washington, via Indianapolis, where the Senator will call upon the President-elect.

HEATING CARS BY STEAM.

The Cremating Stoves to be Displaced.

One New York railroad company asked for only one month's extension of the time to rid its passenger cars of coal stoves. This was the Long Island company, which showed that it had already equipped seventy-five cars with steam apparatus, and was fitting up the remainder of its cars in the same way. The fact that several prominent companies have made notable progress in this work may serve to prevent the granting of much additional time after January 1st to all others. The Railroad Gazette reports that twenty-four companies, most of which are in New York, have adopted systems of heating by steam from the locomotive, and that they have already about 2,500 cars already equipped, or soon to be equipped, with the apparatus.

Haverly's Minstrels.

Judging from newspaper criticisms and reports in general, Haverly's Original Minstrel show will be with us and eclipse anything recently seen in minstrelsy. All the cities in which this organization appeared since their return from England, are enthusiastic in their praise of this company, and judging from the list of people, they will come up to, and even excel, all expectations. Special care has been taken by Mr. Haverly in arranging the programme, to depart as much as possible from the monotonous run into which minstrelsy seems to have fallen. Newness and novelty have been his motto in organizing this company. This excellent company will appear at McKissick's Opera House Wednesday evening, November 28th. Box sheet now open at Nasby's Bazaar.

A Free Lunch.

W. R. Chamberlain is going to set an elegant free lunch from 8 to 12 o'clock at the Riverside Hotel every evening. That will add greatly to its already pleasant house. The Riverside is growing in popularity every day, and this new feature will make it more popular than ever. All the papers can be found on file in the reading room, and if you want to while away an hour or two, away from the cares of business, drop in.

New Mode of Annealing Steel.

A new way of annealing small pieces of steel is given by a writer in the English Mechanic. Heat the piece as slowly as possible, and when at a low red heat put it between two pieces of dry boards and screw them up tight in a vise. The steel burns its way into the boards, and, on coming together around it, they form a practically air-tight charcoal bed. When it cools off the steel is apt to be found thoroughly annealed.

A Big Copper Lode.

The Silver State says it is expected that the Adelaide copper mine, situated near Golconda, and which is said to contain the largest body of copper ore ever discovered in the State, will be extensively worked during the coming winter.

Horse Thief Caught.

A young man who stole two horses from Jesse Hironymous of Cedarville some two years ago was captured in the lower county recently and has been turned over to Modoc's Sheriff at Alturas.

Hardly Probable.

It is reported that the President in his Message may intimate his willingness to sign the Senate Tariff bill. If so, it would not be the first time that a good drubbing has brought a man to his senses.

Bait Question Settled.

The Gloucester, Mass., fishermen have discovered that cod will bite at artificial squid, and they assert that the squabble over the bait problem is settled.

District Court.

The case of Wedekind vs. the Southern Pacific Company still occupies the attention of Judge Bigelow. It will most likely go to the jury to-night.

Cable to Newcaastle.

D. A. Bender is making arrangements to ship a carload of Washoe apples to Los Angeles for Christmas.

BEING REWARDED.

Good Prospects in Outside Mining Districts.

The Virginia Report says: At no time, perhaps, in the past ten years has so much interest been taken in the mining districts adjacent to the Comstock lode. Prospecting has been energetically prosecuted during the Summer in the Jumbo and Silver City districts, and in other localities, with great success. Several claims in the Jumbo district are now producing good ore, and it is expected that the milling tests now being made will guarantee the investment of sufficient capital by the owners to erect hoisting works and go on with the work of development in the Jumbo district. Down about Silver City a number of properties which, a short time ago, could only be considered prospects, are now regular dividend paying mines, with prospects of becoming profitable bonanzas. The strike of the Jumbo extension has given a great impetus to prospecting in that locality, and we may look for further developments from that quarter. We are glad to see our hardy prospectors recompensed substantially for their untiring efforts to find the hidden treasures of the earth, and hope that those who have promising prospects in the large scale. A SURPRISED LOVER.

Effect of Indolence and Rapid Accretion.

The Virginia Chronicle says: A young man of this city, whose name for obvious reasons is withheld, was taken completely by surprise last Saturday evening, and has not yet recovered from his astonishment. The young gentleman in question had been paying suit to a Comstock belle, whose father is a strict church member, and was seriously considering popping the question—in fact, he had been at the home of his beloved that night for the express purpose of doing so. Shortly after arriving at the domicile the rain began to come down in torrents. The young lady being engaged in titivating on his arrival, he put underfoot to entertain his prospective son-in-law until the daughter could get her appearance. Various questions were discussed, and among them the inclement state of the weather, when the old man remarked: "The weather changed very suddenly." "Yes—got damp quick," replied the youthful swain. The next the embryo lover knew he was being hoisted up by the daughter, and he found himself in the arms of the old gentleman's boot, and for the life of him he cannot account for his summary ejection.

A Disgusted Beauty.

"I think that Mr. Smith is just as hateful as he can be," said one pretty girl to her dearest friend the other day. "Why, what's the matter?" asked the other in surprise. "I thought he was very attentive to you at the party last night." "Yes," said the first pretty girl, fully, "that's just what's the matter. We were out in the conservatory together and nobody else was around. He had been just as pleasant and entertaining as a man could be, and really I couldn't help thinking what a handsome fellow he was. It was real cozy and dark out there—and we were all alone, as I said before—and he was sitting just as close—and—and—" "And he kissed you?" the other interrupted, eagerly. "No," was the reply, "the mean, horrid thing! He didn't."

The Band Thanks.

"We desire to return our thanks," observed the editor of an Arkansas paper in his last issue, "to the members of the Gallusville cornet band for a serenade last night. The band can't play for shucks, and the music would have drawn a howl of pain from an Egyptian mummy, but it waked us from a horrible nightmare, in which we seemed to be standing in the door of our office defending it against a sheriff who wore horns and hoofs and had come to take possession of it. Notwithstanding the appalling character of the music, it was the sweetest sound that ever struck our ears, and we don't lay the serenade up against the boys. They didn't mean any harm, and they probably saved our life."

Evaporated Fruit.

Within a radius of forty miles of Rochester, N. Y., there are more than 1,500 evaporators. These evaporators give employment during the Autumn and Winter to about 30,000 hands, whose wages average from $3 to $12 a week. Last season the production of these evaporators was about 30,000,000 pounds, worth, at first cost, about $2,000,000. The principal consuming countries abroad are Germany, England, Belgium, Holland and France, in which the new product has entirely displaced the old-fashioned sun-dried fruit. West Africa and Australia are also beginning to call for evaporated fruit.

The British Sailor's Grog.

The English law carefully regulates the subject of the sailor's grog. Every ship must carry a quantity of lime or lemon juice as an anti-scorbutic, containing fifteen per cent. of palatable fruit syrups, that is, sound rum of a specific gravity not by the station, or sound brandy of a quality similarly fixed. The Board of Trade tells how the grog shall be mixed. One ounce of the lime juice is to be mixed with one ounce of sugar and at least half a pint of water, and must be served out in time for dinner.

Trouble Feared.

The negroes in the Black district in South Carolina outnumbered the whites ten to one. They are exceedingly angry with ex-Congressman Small (colored), who engineered a Democratic-Republican ticket against the straight ticket and defeated it. Trouble is apprehended, and troops are held ready to move.

Then and Now.

The unveiling of the Seward statue at Auburn, N. Y., a few days ago, is a reminder that the world moves. It represents him delivering his famous "higher law" sentiment. Southern slaveholders and Northern doughfaces laughed at it then. Now it is the law of the land at which the South as well as the North shudder.

BREVITIES.

Our Governor Criticized.

The Grass Valley (Cal.) Tidings says: The Governor of the State of Nevada has issued his Thanksgiving proclamation and he makes it a very short affair. The chief blessing, for which he recommends the people to be thankful for, is the result of the late Presidential election. We suppose that means that the Democrats of Nevada may not eat turkey, on the 28th of this month, with the official approval of that State. The Nevada Governor's proclamation makes thanks to God a partisan affair; all the other Governors have Thanksgiving as an open institution and recommended to saints and sinners alike. The Nevada Governor may be the wisest man of all the lot, and we are sorry that we forget his name.

Another Stage Robbery.

The Eureka (Cal.) south-bound stage was robbed by one masked highwayman nineteen miles north of Ukiah Tuesday afternoon at 3 o'clock. The robber took Wells, Fargo & Co's. treasure box and all the mail pouches. There were no passengers on the stage. It is not known how much the robber got.

Merit Wins.

We desire to say to our citizens that for years we have been selling Dr. King's New Discovery for consumption, Dr. King's New Life Pills, Bucklen's Arnica Salve and Electric Bitters, and have never handled remedies that sell as well or that have given such universal satisfaction. We do not hesitate to guarantee them every time, and we stand ready to refund the purchase price if satisfactory results do not follow their use. These remedies have won their great popularity purely on their merits. S. J. Hodgkinson & Co., druggists.

For weak and delicate women nothing builds up the entire system more thoroughly and effectively than Oregon Kidney Tea. It is especially adapted to diseases peculiar to the sex, is pleasant to take and is every indication of great merit. Oregon Kidney Tea is composed of herbs found in Oregon, is put up in neat tin boxes, and can be prepared fresh by simply steeping in hot water. It contains no mineral substance whatever, is pleasant to take and never fails to cure kidney or urinary troubles.

of danger by the condition of your blood, as shown in pimples, blotches, boils, or discoloration, - the skin; or by a feeling of languor, induced, perhaps, by inactivity of the stomach, liver, and kidneys, you should take Ayer's Sarsaparilla. It will renew and invigorate your blood, and cause the vital organs to properly perform their functions. If you suffer from Rheumatism, or Neuralgia, a few bottles of Ayer's Sarsaparilla will relieve and cure you. Alice Kendall, 218 Tremont st., Boston, Mass., writes: "I have been troubled with Neuralgia, pain in the side, and weakness, and have found greater relief from Ayer's Sarsaparilla than from any other remedy." J. C. Tolman, 338 Merrimack st., Lowell, Mass., writes: "In no other remedy have I ever found such a happy relief from Rheumatism as in sarsaparilla." It instils new life into the blood, and imparts vitality and strength. Being highly concentrated, it is the most economical blood purifier.

Prepared by Dr. J. C. Ayer & Co., Lowell, Mass., U. S. A.

For sale by all druggists. Price $1; six bottles for $5.

with Ayer's Sarsaparilla, there need be no fear of Dyspepsia, Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Salt Rheum, Tetter, Eczema, Catarrh, Liver troubles, or any of the diseases arising from Scrofulous taints in the blood. Geo. Garwood, Big Springs, Ohio, writes: "Ayer's Sarsaparilla has been used in my family for a number of years. I was a constant sufferer from Dyspepsia, but Ayer's Sarsaparilla effected a permanent cure. Seven years ago my wife was troubled with Gout: two bottles of Ayer's Sarsaparilla cured her, and she has never had any return of the disease. I regard this preparation as the best medicine in use for the blood." B. Barnard Wair, 75 Adams st., Lynn, Mass., writes: "For many years I suffered terribly from Indigestion, Dyspepsia, and Scrofula. Almost hopeless, I took Ayer's Sar-aparilla, and am a well man to-day." Be sure and get Ayer's Sarsaparilla, the most thorough and effective blood purifier. The best is the cheapest.

GENERAL FRANK SIGEL.

How the Old Hero Carries Himself in the Streets of the Empire City.

A little old man came down Broadway at a rapid gait, the other afternoon. The tails of his long Prince Albert coat flapped around his legs and impeded his progress, but he continued to move along with a quick, nervous step, dodging here and there through the crowd, all his energies apparently bent on getting to his destination in the shortest time possible. At first sight there appeared to be nothing about him to impress one in any way, unless it was the earnest expression that seemed habitual to his face and the nervous, almost savage manner in which he shook his head whenever his long, straight hair strayed across his vision.

It was astonishing, though, to see how many people bowed to him, many of them apparently inclined to stop and speak. But he did not pause except to return the courtesy with a polite, formal bow. Evidently that little old man had a great many friends among the busy, bustling throngs of people that were walking in the streets that afternoon.

At length he reached Canal street and turned westward. In the short distance from Broadway to West Broadway I counted a baker's dozen who touched their hats as he passed them. A few doors beyond West Broadway, on Laight street, he turned into the large brown building occupied by the United States Pension Agency, and disappeared into the inmost private office.

This little old man, apparently so well known, was Gen. Franz Sigel, United States Pension Agent for the district of New York. He is one of the few men alive to-day who have been prominent in battles fought on both sides of the Atlantic for home and liberty. He is a veteran of the rebellion and also of the great German revolution of 1849. Probably not more than five of his comrades in the latter struggle who were or have become prominent are alive to-day. H. G. T.

THE MILLIONAIRE PHILANTHROPIST

What Peter Cooper Thought of the Possession of Wealth—The Power To Do Good.

I used to talk with Peter Cooper pretty often at his little retreat in his glass storehouse down town in New York, when he found out that I didn't want anything.

"What are the pleasures of having money?" I one day asked him. "The probability it brings that you will not come to want," he said. "There is no happiness in the mere accumulation of wealth that I know of," he added, "except the chance it gives of serving others. But the art of spending money so that it will do good is, I think, the most difficult art in the world—more difficult than painting a great picture. I tried for twenty years to benefit those around me by giving them money as I thought they needed it, and I suddenly found out that I had set up a pauper factory and was changing industrious families into beggars. Then I stopped that method and built the institute, and I really hope some good will come from that."

"Is a man any happier when he is worth $5,000,000," I asked at a venture, "than when he is worth $5,000?" "No, I can't say he is, except for the chance," spoke of. It is a real pleasure to give to others when you are sure it will do them good. The most pleasure money ever gave me to look at was the $10 in gold that I saved in 1898 out of the $33 which Curtis & Woodward paid me a year for carriage making. I clothed myself somehow out of the remaining $15, though clothes and everything cost more then than now, and I saved $10 each year, and it seemed as if I was almost a rich man. The most pleasure of millions has never since given me so much pleasure."

W. A. CROFT.

Her Daily Food.

"I love all that is beautiful in art and nature," she was saying to her artistic beau. "I revel in the green fields, the babbling brooks, and the little wayside flowers. I feast on the beauties of the earth the sky and air; they are my daily life and food, and—"

"Maudie!" cried out the mother from the kitchen, not knowing that her daughter's beau is in the parlor, "Maudie, whatever made you go on gawking over that bit of bean that was left over from dinner? I told you we wanted them warmed up for supper. I saw if your appetite ain't enough to tankrupt your pa."

A Mystery Explained.

A sensible mother reads a child's story paper regularly to her little daughter, and most of the tales are continued from week to week.

The other day the little one heard the expression "writer's cramp," and asked what it meant.

"It is a stiffening or cramping of the fingers, my dear," was the reply. "People who write a great deal often get it and have to stop writing for a while."

"Oh!" said the little miss, as a great light broke upon her perceptive faculties, "that's it, is it? I've often wondered why the writers of those nice stories always stop in such interesting places."

A Fowl Jest.

In a race between a zebra and an ostrich held in Zanzibar recently, the ostrich was given the ride of the zebra, although the ostrich came in 100 yards ahead.

The zebra's jockey claimed that his rival won on a fowl and the judge sustained him.—Harper's Bazar.

Letter Case.

Take two pieces of card board six inches square. Cover each side of both pieces with dark blue satin. Pain or embroidery a flower design or an initial on the outside piece, lay the two together and sew three or four times with a fine silk cord and secure with rings from the corners not fastened together. It should stand diamond wise.

Modern Samsons.

"Some of these Western desperadoes must be very strong men," observed Mrs. Snarens.

"Why?" asked her husband.

"The paper to-day says that two of them held up a train yesterday."

"O, that's nothing. Even a weak woman like you can hold up a train when there is danger of some one treating on it."

Trying to get Even.

"I think I must have had an attack of vertigo this morning," said Mrs. Hendricks, the landlady, at dinner. "My head suddenly began to swim, and I only saved myself from falling by grasping the table. I imagine the sensation is similar to that of extreme intoxication."

"Am I not right, Mr. Dumley?"

Dumley ordered a second dish of ice cream, and the landlady's daughter had to go without.

"The Great Monthly Magazine of the World."—Pacific Churchman.

THE CENTURY MAGAZINE IN 1890.

WHY Has it such an enormous circulation? Experts estimate that between two and three millions of people read each number.

BECAUSE The CENTURY is above every development of wood-engraving in America, and it has fostered American authors. It is alive to the issues of to-day. What it prints sets people to thinking and talking.

BECAUSE Whatever other periodicals the great reading world has found out that "no household can keep abreast of the times without THE CENTURY." Its success is explained by its contents.

BECAUSE The greatest writers of the world like to have their work read by the greatest number, and therefore to such a magazine as THE CENTURY the best naturally comes. It was for THE CENTURY that General Grant first wrote his reminiscences of important battles.

BECAUSE It is publishing the life of private secretaries. Of this it has been said, "The young man who is not reading it robs himself of the best of his education." The coming year presents the most important part of this great history, which may begin at any time.

BECAUSE It is publishing those remarkable articles on "Siberia and the Exile System," by George Kennan, which are attracting universal attention and are being reprinted in hundreds of foreign newspapers, but are not allowed to enter Russia. The "Chicago Tribune" says that "no other magazine articles printed in the English language just now touch upon a subject which is vitally interests all thoughtful people in Europe and America and Asia." They are "as judicial as the opinion of a Supreme Court tribunal—as thrilling as the most sensational drama."

BECAUSE During 1890 THE CENTURY has had a series of engravings of the greatest pictures of the old Italian masters, made by Timothy Cole, the leading wood-engraver in the world, who has spent four years in Italy on this work; a series of "The Story of Louisiana," by Geo. W. Cable; occasional richly illustrated papers describing the scenes of the current international Sunday-school lessons; interesting illustrated papers on Ireland, and a series of humorous and pathetic Irish-American stories; a string of illustrated novelettes, "The Romance of Dollars," by a new writer, and other novelistic to be announced later; supplemental war papers, untechnical and descriptive of special incidents, "Pictures of the Far West," by Mary Halleck Foote, etc., etc. We have not space here to announce all the new features. Let us send you (free) our "Catalogue of Special Publications," with original illustrations, containing full prospectus, special offer of back numbers, etc. The November number, which begins the new volume, is for sale everywhere after November 1st. THE CENTURY costs 35 cents a number, $4.00 a year. Address THE CENTURY CO., 35 West 17th street, New York.
